

Martha

One day in a village there was a grumpy woman. She was so grumpy that she had no friends and she had a note on her door saying don't knock just go away.

Martha hated children and anyone else. If you meet Martha run!

I went to see this play with my class. I thought it was awesome. One day Martha was always there she heard a knock knock. Martha was cross. She looked out the window. No one there. She opened the door. No one there. Strange. She looked down. Oh my goodness.

There was a goose there Martha slammed the door. At tea time the goose came in go away!
Martha marched to the door and screamed can't you read don't knock just go away out out I say! The goose went then turned back out!! Martha was so angry she was as red as a tomato. That night Martha heard cough Martha got out of bed and went to the door and opened it.

She brought the goose in and said you can stay for one night.
Martha made the goose believe. In the morning Martha said I'm going to go to the shops you stay right there and did he not and ever was he mess the house up. He looked like a old granay at a jumble sale. When Martha came home she laughed "she thought" the "goose was funny you can stay forever. The end.
