Edinburgh International Children's Festival 25 May – 6 Jun 2021

Imaginate

Delegate Programme

WELCOME

It has been a while since we were last able to present the Edinburgh International Children's Festival.

In 2019, we celebrated our 30th anniversary and the world looked bright. None of us was able to gaze into a crystal ball and predict what would occur in 2020.

For 2021, we made a commitment that we would not be cancelling our Festival, as we had to last year. We have had to plan (and re-plan) events that can adapt to changing restrictions, so that no matter what, we can bring much needed art, culture and entertainment to children and young people.

As it is still not possible to travel and gather as professionals to attend our Festival this year, we are offering you an online alternative. Encouraged by the response to our Digital Delegate programme launched in 2020, we have created a digital programme of streamed and interactive productions, as well as a series of online delegate events so you can learn more about the artists behind the programme.

Whilst this Festival might look and feel slightly different, it is no less bold. We proudly place Scottish and UK artists at the centre of this year's edition of the Festival.

I look forward to welcoming you online this May.

ABOUT IMAGINATE

Imaginate is Scotland's national organisation which promotes, develops and celebrates professional theatre and dance for children and young people (ages 0–15). We believe that all children have the right to experience inspiring theatre and dance regardless of their background, circumstances, access needs or location. Our work falls into three strands.

The Edinburgh International Children's Festival: an annual celebration of the world's best theatre and dance for young audiences, attracting over 15,000 people each year.

A year-round schools programme, to develop children and teachers' creativity through watching, talking about and making art based around performances. This includes Theatre in Schools Scotland, a national touring programme of theatre and dance for schools, in partnership with the National Theatre of Scotland.

A Creative Development programme to support and encourage artists to make high-quality performances for children including residencies, mentoring, workshops and networking events.

FAMILY ENCOUNTERS

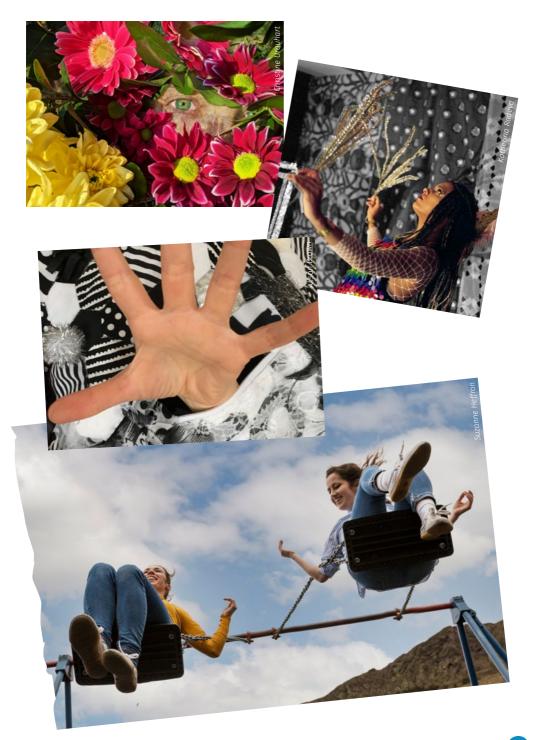

This year, the Festival programme includes Family Encounters, a series of free pop-up artistic encounters, walkabout characters and sound trails happening in outdoor spaces across Edinburgh in the first and last weekend of the Festival. The programme of specially commissioned and curated events will showcase the talent of Scotland-based artists who have created a range of innovative and inspiring sitespecific encounters for families.

These artists have seen the new practical challenges as an opportunity for experimentation and have developed new ways to connect with our audience.

The Family Encounters work will be shared with delegates through a series of events featuring video content captured during the weekend as well as live discussions with the artists (see p.24).

Family Encounters is supported by EventScotland through Scotland's Events Recovery Fund (SERF).

"The children were very stimulated by the film and looked forward excitedly to Potato's party! The livestream party was really personal and Maris Piper engaged really well with the children!"

Teacher, St Andrews Primary, Orkney

Potato has mud on his face. Potato has mud in his ears. Potato needs a bath (just don't get soap in his eyes!)

There is going to be a party, and everyone is ready – except for Potato. Onion is practising his guitar, Aubergine is wearing her new necklace and Peach is bouncing on the bed with excitement.

The problem is Potato needs a bath – but he has other ideas – because Potato loves mud!

Meet Maris Piper and her fruit and vegetable friends in this colourful combination of live and pre-recorded performance based on the much loved theatre show, then join the fruit and vegetable party of the year live by Zoom.

Potato Needs a Bath (digital) is based on the original theatre show by Andy Manley & Shona Reppe and was commissioned by Theatre in Schools Scotland, a National Theatre of Scotland and Imaginate partnership.

"Wilson has the knack of turning visionary ideas into practical adventures."

The Herald

Mixed Up was originally planned to take place live in school playgrounds but with restrictions still in place, the team decided to make an interactive film instead. The film is an energetic, colourful and creative expression of hiphop dance and street art which explores the mixed-up feelings that children have been experiencing through these turbulent times.

As part of the experience, schools receive a box of surprise art materials and guidance on how to use them, alongside a performance film and a series of workshops led by the artists. After watching the film, children are encouraged to get creative in the playground.

Delegates will be able to watch all 4 films as well as a school's outdoor interactive session to get a sense of what children have been experiencing in school.

"A warm and funny experience that achieves what all the best theatre does: open a window on other lives..." ****

The Independent on Purposeless Movements

What's it like to be disabled in 2021?

Designed for all school students, this hilarious energising multimedia show looks at how we talk about disability today.

Roadshow hosts Rob and Sal are coming to the end of their schools tour, but are running late for the day's gig. The audience is already waiting impatiently when they enter the stage, struggling with their touring kit. Opening with a cheery (some might say cheesy!) ditty, they launch into their show. Things are going pretty well, as Rob and Sal teach us what it's like for disabled people in today's world ... until the younger generation decides to set them straight!

Created by Robert Softley Gale, artistic director of Birds of Paradise Theatre and writer of the multi-award-winning My Left/Right Foot, this show exemplifies the company's vision of a culture where disabled artists are recognised for the excellence of their work and celebrated for the stories they bring to the stage.

PRIME CUT PRODUCTIONS NORTHERN IRELAND

Duration: 50 minutes

Capacity: Unlimited

Ages: 11 yrs +

How To Watch:

Watch the performance through a private link.

Date: The show will be premiered on Thu 27 May at 19:00 and can then be accessed at any time until the end of the Festival. There will be a 15 min live Q&A session at the end of the performance with the makers of the show.

Live Q&A: Thu 27 May 19:55

Access: BSL and captions available. BSL interpretation by Jamie Rae.

"This production does what it aims to do well: represents the stories of those who don't often get to be heard and does so with integrity and grit." ★★★★

The Irish Times

Removed is a moving and shocking insight into the experiences of Adam, a young man sharing his story of living within the state care system.

"Adam is OK to share his story; really it's all right. It's OK that his life was turned upside down... and the social workers were nice, kinda... and the foster homes, well... and his baby brother Joe??"

Sometimes heart-breaking, sometimes hilarious, Adam's story reaches out and grabs you, pulling you into a world that you might think you know. While Adam's story is fictional, it is an amalgam of the many stories of young people with experience of the care system, interviewed over three years across Northern Ireland. Although dealing at times with a dark subject matter, Removed is an ideal fit for young people.

The text has been beautifully shot as a direct to camera monologue rather than a filmed performance of the stage production – the result powerfully brings Adam's story intimately alive for the viewer.

DOWN TO EARTH

BAMBOOZLE THEATRE COMPANY ENGLAND

Duration: 40 minutes

Ages: ASN

How To Watch:

For programmers interested in Down to Earth please contact General Manager Laura White laura.white@ bamboozle.co.uk for a promotional pack and archival recording of the work.

"A brilliantly engaging, interactive, musical and theatrical experience loved by pupils and staff alike."

Stuart Rooker, Ashgate Croft School

Using Bamboozle's own immersive style, Down to Earth: Outdoors is an interactive, multi-sensory production inspired by the Land Army girls of World War II. Individually welcomed into the production through song, children will touch and feel a vegetable patch full of earth and fresh produce, meet a mischievous mole and enjoy a night time forest journey with fireflies to help light the way.

A rare and moving experience, Down to Earth was first presented at our 2016 Festival and incorporates live music, movement and most powerfully, stillness, to ensure each participant has the time to respond to this gentle performance in their own way. During the COVID panademic the production has been re-staged as an outdoor performance to ensure the safety of its audience members. This new version enhances the magical quality of the production which celebrates each child's closeness with nature.

Panel Discussion: In A New Light

Wed 26 May: 10:00-11:00 Hosted by Kirsty Robertson

In A New Light was an international online performance project, a collaboration between children in Edinburgh (Scotland), Balia (Bangladesh) and Singapore, who worked together with three artists, Gudrun Soley Sigurdardottir, Kamruzzaman Shadhin, and Renee Chua, to explore the collective voice of children and young people in relation to the current ecological crisis. The artists and children used movement, text and film to explore the theme and work towards a performance film made by Gudrun. In this discussion, we will be joined by artists, teachers and partners who worked on the project to share the learning, barriers and unexpected positives from delivering an online, international project with children during a global pandemic. This will be followed by a premiere of the project performance film.

In A New Light was a partnership between The Artground (Singapore), Gidree Bawlee Foundation of Arts (Bangladesh) and Imaginate (Scotland) and was developed as part of the Singapore International Foundation's Arts for Good Projects.

In Conversation

In Conversation: Birds of Paradise Friday 28 May: 10.00-11.00 Hosted by Noel Jordan

Originally commissioned for our 2020 Festival we are thrilled to be able to finally premiere The Super Special Disability Roadshow in 2021, albeit in a digital format. This event will be an opportunity to hear from writer, performer and Artistic Director of Birds of Paradise, Robert Softley Gale, Executive Producer Mairi Taylor, and Director Joe Douglas, about the making of this work.

In Conversation: Katy Wilson Monday 31 May: 16.00-17.00 Hosted by Noel Jordan

Mixed Up was commissioned from a call out to artists in the sector to propose ideas for our 2021 Festival. At the time of the commission, we assumed that certain things like outdoor performances in school playgrounds might be possible to perform in May 2021. With a second wave of infections and extended lockdowns, the context around the presentation of Mixed Up shifted. This event will be an opportunity to hear from the lead artist, Katy Wilson and her collaborators, choreographer Ashely Jack, and visual artist and animator on the project, Ursula Cheng.

Accelerator Sharings and Talks

Accelerator is an Imaginate project funding the development of new performance ideas for young audiences to a work in progress/rehearsed reading stage. Since 2018, we have supported eight new performance ideas including these three projects by Shotput, Hannah Lavery and Xana Marwick. These events will give you a chance to watch/listen to some extracts of the works in development and hear from the artists and creative teams involved.

Accelerator is supported by the PLACE programme, funded by the Scottish Government (through Creative Scotland), the City of Edinburgh Council and the Edinburgh Festivals.

Untitled Discotheque Project (Early Sharing)

by Shotput

Tue 1 June: 10:00–11:00 (early sharing) Hosted by Fiona Ferguson

At this delegate event, Shotput's artistic directors Lucy Ireland and Jim Manganello will share clips of the performance and podcast, speaking about the process of building a live/ digital project with DJ/podcaster Amanda Stanley.

Untitled Discotheque Project is a piece of dance-theatre and a podcast about the intersection between teenagers and sex.

The show: An ensemble of dancers, a live DJ and an immersive design make the Discotheque Project a raucous teenage disco where all desires are welcome: the good, the bad, and the twisted. This is not a cautionary tale. It's not a documentary. Nor is it an education. This is a show about lust not love.

The podcast: In autumn 2020, Shotput spoke to teenagers from Scotland, Norway and Denmark. The resulting podcast, The Slow Dance, takes a deep dive into sometimes joyful, sometimes tricky topics like sex education, firsts, porn, double standards, and privacy.

Shotput creates dance-theatre that investigates human relationships. They are fascinated by the darker corners of contemporary experience. Their productions are physically and visually rigorous, rooted in experimentation and collaboration. They define their work not as a collection of shows, but as a network of relationships with artists and audiences. Founded in Glasgow in 2018, Shotput is embedded in Scotland and committed to internationalism.

Hopeful Town (Excerpt from audio play) by Hannah Lavery

Friday 28 May: 16:00–17:00 Hosted by Fiona Ferguson

How to Listen: You will receive a private link to listen to the excerpt in advance of the event (available between 25 May and end of June). A transcript will also be available.

Hopeful Town is a new play in development by Hannah Lavery for age 10+ that will explore the experiences, the moments, the encounters and the individual and collective journey of three young people to protests and activism.

In the face of so much turmoil and threat, young people have found places to protest online, in their communities and on the streets. Hopeful Town will look at our three characters and their journey toward activism. Their journeys will interweave with interviews from a cross generational group of real activists – who have protested and protest still, and from those who did and now don't.

"When we marched against the Iraq War – och there were so many of us. You should have seen it. Thousands and thousands and thousands of us but still it happened. We made no difference. We went home. We gave up, I suppose. We just gave up and went home".

As part of the development of this new work, Hannah has created an audio excerpt which we will discuss in this event with time to explore Hannah's practice, her ambition for the work in the future and how she has been engaging with members of the public about their stories of activism.

Thrown (Rehearsed reading)

by Xana Marwick

Fri 4 June: 16:00–17:00 Hosted by Fiona Ferguson

Thrown is a musical, storytelling play about a small 12-year-old boy called Pheasant, inspired by Scottish folk music and tales.

Pheasant has a big imagination filled with terrifying trolls and historical heroes, and is happiest escaping into a good book, so no one is more surprised than him when he decides to take up... boxing? Up until now Pheasant has tried hiding in his wardrobe, hiding at his (only) friend Olive Grace's flat, hiding in the school toilet and hiding in his journal which is filled with stories, legends and everyday suffering, both at school and at home. But the time has come for him to face the trolls head-on, wherever they might be. Join Xana Marwick (Writer) and Niloo Khan (Director) to talk about Thrown and the development process so far. This event will include live discussion with the sharing of two pre-recorded scenes and songs.

Xana Marwick is a writer and director based in Edinburgh, working across theatre and television. Her work is often for/inspired by children and young people, particularly those she has met through her experience in socially excluded communities. "A bold, thoughtprovoking glimpse into a world most of us would rather pretend doesn't exist. but can't be ignored." (The List on NESTS). Xana has been CATS nominated, named on the BBC New Talent Hotlist. on the BBC Writersroom / Dramaroom scheme, a Playwrights' Studio Scotland mentee, in the Creative Scotland 'Made in Scotland' Showcase and Glasgow Culture 2014 programme and has shown work throughout the UK and internationally.
